

Rheumatology Nurse Survey

Are you a rheumatology nurse or work with people who have inflammatory arthritis?

On behalf of Arthritis Australia, the Australian Healthcare and Hospitals Association (AHHA) is conducting a survey to identify the number, distribution and role of rheumatology nurses in Australia.

This survey is part of a research project to examine the potential benefits of rheumatology nursing in terms of patient experience and outcomes as well as health system efficiencies and costs.

We need your support to take part in the survey and help us understand how people can best be supported to live well with arthritis.

Visit <http://bit.ly/2otLTTR> to take the survey, or contact Daniel Holloway on dholloway@ahha.asn.au or 02 6162 0780 if you have any questions or for more information.

Please encourage anyone you know with arthritis or who works with people with arthritis to also participate in the survey.
